TOLEDO'S NEW HALF-MILLION DOLLAR ART MUSEUM

TOLEDO, Ohio.—Many artists and museum officials from all over the country have been here to attend the opening and inaugural exhibition of the Museum of Art. The new building, by Green and Wicks of Buffalo and Harry W. Wacker of this city, is of white marble with a frontage of 200 feet, the style being Greek Ionic of the periclean period. It stands in a spacious grove of forest oaks in the heart of the city. The building and grounds represent an expenditure of $500,000, one-half of which is the gift of the president of the museum, Edward Drummond Libbey, the other half having been raised by popular subscription in sums ranging from 10 cents to $10,000. More than 20,000 citizens subscribed to the fund. The building opens free, from debt, and will be supported by 1,200 contributing members. George W. Stevens, the director, has systematically carried the work of the museum into the homes, the factories, the churches and the public schools. The inaugural exhibition is one of the most important ever brought together in this country. Works of art have been sent from the Metropolitan Museum, New York; the Chicago Art Institute, the National Museum and from many other public and private collections. The exhibition includes works by Sir Joshua Reynolds, Gainsborough, Constable, Turner, Watts, Rossetti, Rembrandt, Franz Hals, Rubens, Manet, Monet, Millet, Whistler, Sargent, Abbey, Inness, Wyant and many other masters past and present. An exhibition of the work of modern American sculptors has been arranged and installed in the National Sculpture Society.

NEW PALM CAFE OPENS TODAY

Sanitation First Consideration of Honolulu's Finest Restaurant

"Back at the old stand." Today the Palm Cafe is opening up in its brand, spanking, new home, that has been erected on the site of the old building that used to shelter it up to March 1st of this year, when other quarters were secured further up the street for the time being. The little old one story affair was removed and the present magnificent two story structure was erected in its stead.

Since the new building has been finished there has been a gang of decorators, fitters, painters and other artisans at work on the interior of the new building, and the result is that it is the most handsomely decorated public building in the city. But a beautifully decorated building with nothing in the interior is still lacking a lot to make it a finished whole. This being the case, Al Jungclaus, the proprietor of the Palm Cafe, made a special trip to the Coast for the purpose of purchasing fittings and other furnishings for the new building that could not be obtained here.

The local markets have been made to disgorge the best they have in the line of the Palm Cafe's particular business and the result is most pleasing to the eye.

The new cafe consists of two floors and capable of seating five hundred people at once. The lower floor covers a space of 3600 square feet, and there is nearly that space on the upper floor.

On the first floor the walls are paneled to the height of seven feet in Flemish oak, with coconut palms above, and the ceiling is done up in a granite or pattern with the vines in full cluster, and the effect is really beautiful. Drop lights in clusters of four are well distributed over the ceiling.

The candy counter that occupies a part of one end and the whole of one side is fitted out in the latest of show cases and the new feature is in a collection of candy jars that are considered to be the nearest thing to perfect sanitation that can be devised. The soda fountain is of the latest variety, and is a beautiful piece of furniture.

The Palm Cafe occupies the whole building and each of the different vocations that go to make up the finished cafe has a department by itself. In the kitchen, where the food is to be prepared, all the latest appliances for placing food before a diner in the most appetizing manner have been incorporated in this wonderful kitchen. There are broilers and bakers and friers and boilers, all in the latest up-to-date patterns, and all operated by oil as a fuel. The bake oven is a wonder in itself. It has the capacity of 800 loaves at one baking. On the floor just above this is the cake oven that will take in nearly the same number of cakes. To the left of this cake room is the candy makers room with all the latest sanitation candy mixing machines. Adjoining this is the room that will be devoted to dipping chocolates. There are numerous other rooms that are to be devoted to certain branches of the business.

All of the basement is set aside for the handling and manufacture of ice cream and kindred sweets and ices. It is certain that Mr. Jungclaus has spared no expense to give Honolulu a cafe that will class up with the best on the mainland. A new chef and assistants have been brought here for the purpose of carrying out the designs of Mr. Jungclaus of giving the public the best in the eating line and in the cleanest and most scientific and sanitary manner known to the art.

WOMEN SMOKE CIGARS IN CHICAGO

Pick Them Out Just Like Men, Says One Dealer, and the Sales Are Increasing

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Cigar dealers in Chicago confirm the report from Kansas City that women are smoking cigars. C. E. Ingersoll of the Stratford Hotel said:

"Why, women have been smoking cigars in Chicago for a long time. I get so many orders from women for cigars that I could not tell you offhand the exact amount. They don't ask for any light, small cigar, though. And I don't think they smoke it through a holder. They usually smoke a brand that comes about two for a quarter. They select them just the same as men do, black, strong ones, and light ones. They're smoking them just the way they began smoking cigarettes."

At the Congress Hotel the sales to women have shown big increase. "They sometimes say the cigars are for a husband of a brother, but we find men do not send their wives to buy their cigars," said a woman attendant.

EGYPTIAN FARMERS WASTE NO LAND

WASHINGTON—Egyptian farmers can teach the agricultural classes of the United States a thing or two in farming methods, according to Abdul Hamid Abaza Bey of Cairo, director of the department of agriculture of Egypt, who is visiting the United States to confer with officials of the department of agriculture and directors of experiment stations, with particular reference to the study of orchards. He is much impressed with many branches of the agriculture department, says the Post but has not a high opinion of the farming methods employed.

"Our people would not submit for a moment to the way the Americans employ land," said Mr. Abaza. "I have been so much impressed with the opportunities offered in this country for making money in farming that I have about determined to purchase a farm in either Texas or Mississippi and go into the raising of cotton."

"In Egypt we have to conserve our lands so closely that we take good care to waste not a single foot of ground. Our irrigation canals are measured carefully so that they will not take more space than necessary. As soon as one crop is harvested, another is planted, and the soil made to yield all it is capable of. Continued fertilization and cultivation, with the assistance of the waters of the Nile, which contain silt, make it possible for Egyptian farmers to keep the soil continually at work. Of course, I know that conditions in this country are different. Here it costs not more, I judge than $8 an acre to produce crops, for which the farmers get an average of $1."

"Is Egypt the cost of production? $50 to $60 an acre, and we are content with a profit of 8 to 10 per cent. The usual wages paid range from 10 cent to 25 cents. On this some manage to save a little. The price of food in Egypt has gone up as it has in every other country in the world. "The laboring classes do not eat a great deal of meat in my country. Until the last few years they were content to have meat four or five times a year but now the labor is better paid the workman eats meat perhaps once a week. The usual meal consists of bread and vegetables."

WOMEN AND CHILDREN ATTACKED AT REVIVAL

French-Canadians Bombard Them With Missiles

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 31.—A message from Ville St. Pierre, a French Canadian village not far from the city, reports a disgraceful assault upon Bible women and converts who have for some time been holding religious meetings in that district.

A young man, recently arrived from France, was the chief object of attack. He had received intimations that unless he stopped his campaign there would be trouble. He refrained from attacking the faith of the French Canadians, he said, and asked for protection. It was promised, but in the middle of his address, the electric lights were shut off, the women accompanying him bombarded with rocks and eggs, and he himself struck with vegetables of all descriptions. A little child was struck in the stomach and is being treated at the hospital. The police of the village, it is alleged, told the women that it would be wise to cease selling Bibles and preaching.

When a young man is engaged to a girl he doesn't necessarily have to make love to other girls, unless he wants to.
